Working to conserve their environment

The Cook's Harbour Green Team has been diving deep into the realms of the rare plant habitat of the Limestone Barrens to inform themselves and their town of the rarities in their backyard. Recently the team produced a brochure of the Cook's Harbour Limestone Barrens and will be using them to conduct interviews with townspeople over the next two weeks. The four youth will also be carrying out land usage surveys over the next few days. Members of the team include: Front (l-r) Lorenda Colbourn, Amy Saunders; back (l-r) Susie Short and Amanda Short.
